

Checklist and frequently asked questions

Partner (Provisional) & Partner (Migrant) visa – (subclass 309/100) &

Prospective Marriage visa – (subclass 300)

Use this checklist to ensure that your application is complete and all of the relevant documentation has been included.

You must provide documents and evidence to support your application for this visa. We can make a decision using the information you provide when you lodge your application. It is in your interest to provide as much information as possible with your application at the time of lodgement. Applications with missing information can be decided on the information provided at lodgement and might take longer to finalise.

- All non-English documents must be translated into English and accompany the certified copy of the document.
 - In Australia contact the National Accreditation Authority for Translators and Interpreters for a translator.
 - Translators outside Australia do not need to be accredited, but they must endorse the translation with their full name, address, telephone number, and details of their qualifications and experience in the language being translated.
- All foreign issued documents must be certified by the issuing authority
- All documents that you provide in your online application via ImmiAccount must be scanned certified original documents (DO NOT scan copies of originals).
- For all official documents, the scan or electronic copy must be good quality: The quality of the scan or electronic copy is a minimum of 300DPI in 24 colour and saved as a JPG image at a good quality setting

Issuing authority certification of documents

In Lebanon, all official documents (Individual Census, Family Census, Marriage Certificates, Divorce Certificates, Death Certificates) must be certified by the Ministry of Interior and Municipalities.

Republic of Cyprus, birth certificates, passports, ID cards and marriage certificates must be certified by the Republic of Cyprus District Administration Office.

Lodging your application

You are required to lodge your online using ImmiAccount. You can also use your immiAccount to continue a saved application, attach documents, update your passport details, change email and address details and check the progress of your application.

Once you lodge your application you will be sent a letter asking you to complete your biometrics at our Australian Visa Application Centre in Lebanon.

You should make an appointment to attend the Visa Application Centre.

Fraud and misrepresentation

If we find you provided a bogus document or false or misleading information with your visa application:

- we might refuse your visa application
- we might prevent you from being granted another visa for three years and, if your visa has already been granted, we might cancel it.

Remember that you are responsible for the information included in your application, even if someone else completes it for you.

Partner and Prospective Marriage visas - About these visas

The Prospective Marriage (subclass 300) visa allows people to come to Australia to marry their fiancé. If you are granted this visa, you should marry your fiancé and then apply for a Partner (subclasses 820 and 801) visa in Australia before your Prospective Marriage visa expires (usually within 9 months).

The Partner (Provisional) visa (subclass 309) and Partner (Migrant) visa (subclass 100) allows the partner or spouse of an Australian citizen, Australian permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen live in Australia.

See: DIBP website <http://www.border.gov.au/Trav/Visa-1/309-> or <http://www.border.gov.au/Trav/Visa-1/300-> for more information on these visas.

Further information is also available in the Partner Migration Booklet – Booklet 1 available on our website.

Important notes and answers to Frequently Asked Questions:

The Health Requirement

You and your children who are applying for the visa with you must meet our health requirement. In some cases, members of your family unit who are not applying with you might, if requested, also need to meet the requirement.

So that we can decide if you meet this requirement, you need to undertake health checks at one of our Panel Doctors.

You can have health checks before you apply for the visa or you can wait until we tell you to have them. Health checks are only valid for one year. If your visa takes longer than a year to process you will need to have, and pay for, the checks again.

We recommend that you wait for us to contact you about health checks.

More information is available about our health requirement.

How long will it take to process my application?

We publish our current global processing times online. The new processing time information will give you an indication of the time it will likely take to finalise a complete application. Global visa and citizenship processing times are updated monthly, providing you with an indicative timeframe for processing applications. Two processing times are displayed, indicating how long it is taking to finalise 75 and 90 per cent of applications submitted globally.

You can view processing times on our website at www.border.gov.au/about/access-accountability/service-standards/global-visa-citizenship-processing-times.

Once you have lodged your application you can expect us to:

- undertake checks, as required, to confirm that the information and documents provided are truthful and accurate
- finalise the application as quickly as possible and in accordance with Australian law.

To ensure your application is completed within the expected timeframe, make sure that you:

- submit a complete application, including all necessary supporting documents
- provide any additional documents or information we request within the specified time, or tell us immediately if this is not possible. (Remember to check your junk folder, as our correspondence may auto-filter into spam).
- keep contact with the case officer or processing office to a minimum, to allow processing of applications to proceed as quickly as possible.

Note: Applications are assessed on a case-by-case basis. Some individual circumstances may cause applications to fall outside the published processing times.

All applicants are in similar circumstances, we are unable to expedite one application above others. All non-citizens applying for visas to Australia are considered on their individual merits against the legal requirements set out in Australia's migration legislation. These requirements include mandatory health, character, and national security checks that are undertaken by other agencies. Some of these checks can take some time to complete.

However, if you have any significant information to add to the application or if there has been a material change in the applicant's circumstances that might have an impact on the visa application, please notify the case officer as soon as possible by uploading your documents via ImmiAccount and sending an email to immigratin.beirut@dfat.gov.au

Evidence of your relationship

Please see the 'Evidence that your relationship is genuine' section of the Partner Migration Booklet 1 for more information.

Evidence should be uploaded to ImmiAccount. Please think about how to present this information in a way that our office can understand your relationship. For example: You may want to copy a select few photos to a document and describe when the photos were taken, who is in the photo and how this photo demonstrates that you are in a genuine relationship and the development of your relationship over a period of time (ie you do not need to provide every single photo of your time together, repeated photos of the same event are generally not considered unless they contain additional evidentiary value).

We do not need to see every single chat/email or skype message you have had, but you may want to select relevant chats or messages that clearly demonstrate you are in a genuine relationship.

How do I contact you

We do not respond to status-related enquiries that fall within the published processing times. You should wait until after the processing time has elapsed before contacting us. If you lodged your application online, you can monitor the status of your application or provide additional documents for consideration through ImmiAccount.

We will contact by you at each stage of processing or when a decision is made via email.

If your application is outside our published service standards you can contact us by email, you can send your enquiry to immigration.beirut@dfat.gov.au.

How to send additional information or documents

If you did not include all documents when you applied, send them as soon as you can by attaching them to your ImmiAccount if you applied online.

Prospective marriage applicants who marry before a decision is made on your subclass 300 application:

If you marry before we make a decision on your visa application, you will no longer be eligible for the 300 Prospective Marriage visa. You will need to upload the following information to ImmiAccount:

- evidence that your marriage is valid (registered marriage certificate issued by the relevant legal authority) and translation.
- a request in writing to be considered for a Partner visa (subclass 309) and Partner visa (subclass 100).
- a statement in writing telling us you want to withdraw your Prospective Marriage visa application. If you do not withdraw your application, it will be refused as you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for the visa.

Once this is received, we will process your application as a Partner (subclass 309) visa application.

Adding children to your application

You can add dependent children to your visa application before we make a decision on your visa. Add dependents via your ImmiAccount or complete Form 1436 Adding an additional applicant after lodgement.

If your child is born after you lodge your application but before the Prospective Marriage or Partner visa application is decided, tell us as soon as possible so that we can include them in your application.

- Complete a form 1022 Notification of changes in circumstances
- Attach a certified copy of the birth certificate to the form
- Upload the documents via ImmiAccount if you have applied online

If your child was born after you lodge your application but before a decision is made there is no fee for adding the child to the application.

If your child was born before your application but you would like to add them before a decision is made on your application you will be required to pay the relevant Additional Applicant Charge.

If your child is born outside Australia and either parent is an Australian citizen at the time of the child's birth, the child might be eligible for Australian citizenship by descent.

If your child is born in Australia, they are automatically granted the same visa you and your partner hold at the time of the child's birth. If either parent is an Australian citizen or Australian permanent resident at the time of the child's birth, the child might be an Australian citizen by birth. You should still advise this office of the birth of a child in Australia by providing a copy of the birth certificate by mailing it in or uploading the document via ImmiAccount.

Tell us of changes

You need to update us if:

- there are any changes to your circumstances, for example, change of address or telephone number
- you made a mistake on your application.
- you need to provide more information
- you want to withdraw your application.

Update your contact details and passport number via your ImmiAccount or complete Form 1022 – Notification of changes in circumstances

If you applied online, send them via your ImmiAccount

If you applied on a paper form, send your changes by emailing immigration.beirut@dfat.gov.au

Mistakes on your visa application

Tell us if there are any mistakes in your application.

Complete Form 1023 - Notification of incorrect answer\(s\)

Appoint or withdraw someone acting on your behalf

Provide Form 956 - Advice by a migration agent/exempt person of providing Immigration assistance (133 KB PDF). The form must be:

- completed by the person who you are appointing or withdrawing and
- signed by you.

Appoint or withdraw someone to receive correspondence on your behalf

Provide Form 956a - Appointment or withdrawal of an authorised recipient (116 KB PDF).

The form must be:

- completed by the person who will receive (or will no longer receive) the correspondence and
- signed by you.

Note: The person named on this form will not be authorised to act on your behalf.

Withdrawing your application

Withdrawals must be signed by every applicant who is 18 years or older and is included in the visa application. In most cases, any fees you paid cannot be refunded.

You can either:

- Complete Form 1446 - Withdrawal of a visa application and upload it to your ImmiAccount.
Note: Removing your application from ImmiAccount does not withdraw it.
- Send us a letter by post or email that includes:
 - your full name
 - date of birth
 - transaction reference number (TRN) or file reference number (FRN)
 - a statement advising you are withdrawing your Partner or Prospective marriage application

Withdrawing your sponsorship

Send us a letter by post or email that includes:

- your full name
- date of birth
- transaction reference number (TRN) or file reference number (FRN)
- a statement advising you are withdrawing your sponsorship from the Partner or Prospective Marriage application.

Note: Removing your application from ImmiAccount does not withdraw it.
